One Hundred and Thirty Eight Tons of Gold

[illegible]

From the N. Y. Evening Post.

On Friday the examination of the coin in the vaults of the Sub-Treasury [illegible] preparatory to the change of [illegible] Last November when [illegible] Butterfield [illegible] Folger [illegible]

This is a weighty matter as will be observed [illegible] The coin in the vaults [illegible] from $75,000,000 in gold [illegible] weight of [illegible] Troy [illegible] 276,428.56 avoirdupois pounds [illegible] nearly 138 tons of 2,000 pounds. [illegible] of space.

On Friday the examination of the bullion in the Sub-Treasury vaults was completed, and the amount reported was $1,069,809.19 in gold bars and $1[illegible] in silver bars making a total of $1,081,002.23. On Saturday the currency [illegible] $8,000,000 was examined [illegible] by clerks [illegible] thirty clerks from several of the banks of the city.

[illegible] the silver coin in the vaults [illegible] Folger [illegible] Mr. Haight of the Bank of the Commonwealth [illegible] of the Gallatin National Bank [illegible] Treasury Department at Washington by Messrs. Moore, Bigelow [illegible] Committee of the Treasury. [illegible]

The process of examination is interesting. The gold is kept locked in closets or compartments in the vaults each chest containing $500,000 [illegible] bags each containing $5,000 [illegible] placed upon a truck and thus carried carefully [illegible] gold room which is in the northwest corner of the building [illegible] accurately adjusted scales. One of the bags is taken at random from the truck opened and the contents counted piece by piece. If found correct the gold is poured [illegible] When the test is thoroughly applied and the result is pronounced satisfactory the counter turned to the bag which [illegible] It may be here observed that such care is taken with the coin when it is received at the Sub-Treasury that it rarely happens [illegible] When a truck full has been examined the coin is returned to the vault [illegible] sealed with wax in such a manner that it cannot be tampered with. Upon the tags are written the names of the Examining Committee as above the representatives of the incoming and retiring Assistant Treasurers and the Superintendent of the Assay Office.

The labor of examination will doubtless occupy about ten days. Last November the work progressed at the rate of from $10,000,000 [illegible] per day but this time not [illegible] per day will be examined. It may be stated in conclusion these counts always result in complete accuracy and the contents of the vault are invariably found to tally with the books.

The Dunderburg to be Met with the Stevens Battery

From rumors in circulation [illegible] it is not unlikely that the French ironclad [illegible] Dunderberg [illegible] the great Stevens Battery.

It is [illegible] the Prussian Government [illegible] made proposals [illegible] the purchase of the [illegible] Hoboken [illegible] General George B. McClellan. It is said that the proposal has been turned over to the New Jersey [illegible] the late Edwin A. Stevens the battery [illegible]

[illegible] representatives of the press [illegible]

[illegible]

The following statement of the age of the lead[illegible] generals of both armies will occasion some surprise when we remember how large a proportion of the American commanders in the late war were young men. European [illegible] men who have proved themselves equal to the demands made upon them. The three most prominent French officers and corps commanders in the present war McMahon, Bazaine and Canrobert are all over sixty years of age. The three leading commanders on the Prussian side are the Crown Prince, Von Moltke, Manteuffel and Von Roon—[illegible] named as seventy years old. The King [illegible] seventy three years of age and the Emperor of France sixty two. It is likely that some younger men will be heard of before the war is over.

The Daily Oregonian

[illegible] MORNING [illegible] 1870

Explanation and Apology from Mr Smith

Congressman Smith [illegible] the people of Oregon [illegible] southern [illegible] explanation of his conduct [illegible] the displeasure which he has [illegible] since his [illegible] brought him to his knees. Those bulletins which he sent up here and caused to be published [illegible] election have [illegible] Smith's political prospects and made it quite apparent that he cannot be elected Senator. It is well understood that [illegible] him in Congress [illegible] calculated [illegible] to deprive Southern Oregon of all hopes of a railroad. Mr Smith [illegible] his political aspirations and necessities is anxious to show now that he did not mean it. He therefore publishes a long letter in the hope of being able to [illegible] the matter up and to dispel the impression produced by his dispatches from Washington in behalf of the Humboldt road ring and the Central Pacific company. An additional reason why Mr Smith sent those dispatches was because he hoped they could be made use of to injure Senator Williams in this part of the State. But his course has brought him into trouble, and hence this long and labored letter of explanation.

Some of Mr Smith's reasoning is that an [illegible] dextrous kind which is well calculated to sustain his reputation [illegible] most candid man in Oregon. He says "It has been charged against me as an offence that I opposed Mr Williams' amendment which requires the road to come through Rogue river valley." And then to mollify Southern Oregon people he makes this declaration: "I did not oppose it, for I never heard of it, or knew of any purpose to offer it, until after it was passed." Immediately following this is a statement that he was "surprised and disappointed" at the passage of the bill with the amendment to bring the road through Rogue river valley. The interpretation of all this is that he did not oppose it, because he had no opportunity to do so; therefore, it is unfair to say that he is unfriendly to the interests of Southern Oregon. But he regrets exceedingly that Williams amended the bill in the interest of Southern Oregon, and so much did he regret it at the time that he was greatly "surprised and disappointed." This is a pretty good specimen of the "candid Joseph" style of argument. A person who can dovetail English with such delicate duplicity ought to be regarded as a valuable man to his party.

But says Mr Smith a railroad has already been secured to Southern Oregon. That is to say, he holds that the Holladay road will be extended to that part of the State in any event whether the Humboldt branch comes through Rogue river valley or not, and the California and Oregon road will be built up to the Oregon line, where the two roads will connect. This is what he means by saying that a road has been secured for Southern Oregon. The statement or supposition is utterly at variance with well known facts. In the first place it is admitted by the Central Pacific company and those who are acting with them that in case the act is passed to bring the Humboldt branch to Eugene the California and Oregon road (which is owned by the Central Pacific company), will not be built to the Oregon line south of Jacksonville but will be built to a connection with the Humboldt and Eugene branch in the Goose Lake country. Why does Mr Smith ignore this well known and acknowledged fact? Again, Mr Holladay says that if he cannot secure for his road a southern connection he will stop it at the head of the Wallamet valley. Now as the building of the Humboldt branch along the route on which the Central Pacific company and Mr Smith want that branch established will certainly cut off the Holladay road from southern connections, the fact is as clear as any demonstration can make it that Mr Smith has been and is still contending for a scheme that opposes in a vital point the interests of Southern Oregon. Indeed, according to the statements of all parties connected with these railroads, there is no means by which Southern Oregon can obtain a road except by the bill to bring the Humboldt branch through the valley of Rogue river.

Though Mr Smith was so greatly "surprised" and bitterly "disappointed" by the introduction of the Williams amendment in the interest of Southern Oregon, and though he sent dispatches from Washington urging that Williams should be defeated for proposing this amendment, he now says that he will do all in his power to pass the bill through the House in the same form in which Williams passed it through the Senate! Mr Smith is very obliging. Only show him that his personal or political interests require it and he can take the back track on a question as quickly as anybody. He can, when occasion demands it, shift positions with a ready facility that is quite admirable. Senator Williams, he argued a short time ago, had done a most unwise thing and inflicted great injury on the State by proposing this amendment, yet Mr Smith is now ready to vote for it. Political necessity extorts this declaration.

Something is said by Mr Smith about the advantages of two competing roads through the Wallamet valley which would be secured by building the Humboldt branch to Eugene City. Has Mr Smith yet learned that, through the dereliction of parties in this city who refused to fulfill the just expectations of the public by taking hold and building the west side road, the west side company were unable to go on and were forced to dispose of their franchise? As the railroad franchises on both sides of the valley are now in the hands of the same company or person, this talk about competing lines is out of date. And we would remind Mr Smith that the persons who labored with him to make these matters political issues in the late election and who received his dispatches from Washington and paid the expense of printing them are the very persons who neglected west side interests, allowed the west side franchise to go into the hands of the man whom they had all denounced as a "dangerous monopolist," and thus threw away every chance of making the west side a competing line.

Mr Smith has written this letter as a sort of apologetical explanation to the people of Southern Oregon. They will not like his action in Congress any better for it. The most noteworthy fact in connection with all that the Democratic newspapers and politicians are saying on this subject is that their present course is a vindication of the action taken by Senator Williams, for which they denounced him so bitterly prior to the election.

The Democratic State Convention of Nevada is to be held at Elko.

The French Statesman Thiers on the War

[illegible] French Corps [illegible] declaration of hostilities was one of tremendous energy and power. He said "It is a blunder that we make war. [illegible] to have been attacked when she desired to [illegible] [illegible] They [illegible] have [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] tion of Hohenzollern candidature I should be with you. You had not only [illegible] your result. [illegible] had torn and [illegible] ball. Yet you say Prussia has not yielded in form and we have been insulted. Public opinion [illegible] against us. The journals of Europe will be against us. Prussia would never have resumed the candidature. It would have been madness. It is impossible not to be impressed with the force of these words. The language of Thiers relative to the course of public opinion in regard to the war was prophetic. It is evident from the tone of the larger portion of the press in both hemispheres that France in having declared war at the time and under the circumstances existing when the declaration was made, does not and cannot share equally with her adversary the sympathy and moral support of mankind. When the first Napoleon [illegible] the Duke d'Enghien Talleyrand said the act was worse than a crime; it was a blunder. The [illegible] may be [illegible] a description of the action of France in plunging into the present war. Yet as she is in it and her arms have suffered a reverse, the national pride and patriotism of her people will probably impel them to combine for a tremendous struggle.

A communication which we publish to-day relative to the construction of fishways at Wallamet Falls so that salmon can ascend the Wallamet river and disperse themselves in the many tributaries of that stream, contains some practical suggestions which the Legislature might find it well to consider. The plan suggested would not be an expensive one and the benefits derived from it would be considerable and even important.

The army bill which passed Congress toward the close of the session, having totally abolished brevet rank, instructions were issued by the War Department on the 27th July to discontinue the use of brevet titles in all official communications.

Salmon in the Upper Wallamet

SALEM, Aug 10, 1870

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

As the Legislature is soon to convene, I would like to mention one thing which appears to me to be a fit subject for legislation. By the expenditure of a few hundred dollars, probably not exceeding one thousand dollars at most, a way might be constructed at the Falls of the Wallamet at Oregon City, by which salmon and other fish can pass up the Wallamet river. They would then distribute themselves throughout the waters of all its tributaries and thus supply the people of our largest and best valley in the most economical and convenient manner with a very valuable article of food. On account of the high prices of ordinary meats and because of the special qualities of fish as food, much attention has, of late years, been given to pisciculture. Some of the older States of the Union—for instance, Connecticut—have suffered serious loss in this respect from early neglect, which they are now endeavoring to repair at large cost. Shall we not profit by their experience? There should be a law upon our statute books to prevent the destruction of fish in our waters, either by taking them improperly or obstructing their passage up and down our streams. The salmon especially should be cared for. It is a favorite kind of food wherever it can be procured and there is no reason why every settler in Oregon should not be able to obtain, at a trifling cost, an abundant supply of the very best quality of this fish. Boston, New York and Philadelphia obtain their salmon chiefly from the fisheries of the St Lawrence. London gets hers from Scotland and Paris is supplied from the English Channel. The price of fish in those markets seldom falls below 18 cents, and it has been known to reach $2 per pound.

It is my present object to urge the passage of an act by the Legislature to provide for making a fish weir at Oregon City. Most of your readers are well aware that salmon are found in all the waters of Oregon except those of the upper Wallamet. Their absence there is owing to their inability to leap the falls at Oregon City. Several years ago when the falls on the west side were somewhat broken by the works about the Linn City mill, salmon frequently made their way up the river. Even since the mill works were carried away by the high water, a few of the most active and energetic of the salmonidæ succeed in springing over the cataract, but it is usually at the cost of so bruising themselves as to make them unfit for use. They have often been known to leap fourteen feet out of water and to describe a curve of as much as twenty feet in order to get over a cascade.

No doubt there will be abundant wisdom in the Legislature to devise a suitable plan for this work. Perhaps as good a one as any would be to authorize the Governor to appoint three commissioners, residents of Oregon City, whose duty it shall be to contract with some competent person to construct the fish way. Of course the commissioners should be allowed actual expenses. The way could be most easily constructed during low water. It should consist of a series of steps in the rock of the falls ten or fifteen feet square, each step so made as to form a resting place for the ascending fish. The steps should be sufficiently numerous to enable the water to make its way down without falling more than two or three feet in one place. After the way is constructed it will be necessary to clear it of rocks and driftwood every spring, but this will cost but a trifle.

As the OREGONIAN is probably read by most of the members of the Legislature, I have thought this the best way to invite their attention to this subject.

POLITICAL NOTES

There is some talk of running John Lothrop Motley for United States Senator from Massachusetts in place of Henry Wilson.

It is said that the reason for calling the Democrats in Virginia "Conservatives" is the aversion of the old proud Whig element of the State to that "hated name."

Andrew Johnson is vociferous for the preservation of the Democratic party, and against all outside organizations. He is about to inflict a new edition of his speeches upon the people of Tennessee.

Daniel A. Haynes, for several years Judge of the Superior Court of Montgomery county, and now the law partner of Vallandigham, has been proposed as the Republican candidate for the Third Congressional District of Ohio.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN

EASTERN DATES TO AUGUST 11

Further about Napoleon

NEW YORK, Aug 11.—The France's special dated London Wednesday evening, Aug 10, says: The latest official dispatch dated Metz Aug 10 [illegible] says the Emperor went that morning to the [illegible] Marshal [illegible] and resumed [illegible] direct [illegible] that Marshal [illegible] The Emperor [illegible] his incompetency and [illegible] command of the army until another defeat exhausts the patience [illegible] He gives up that he never will return to Paris alive.

Advance of the Prussians

[illegible] Aug 11.—Advices from [illegible] Wednesday report [illegible] the line of the Moselle harassed by the Prussian cavalry which has already passed the Saar. Several railway trains had fallen into the hands of the Prussians. They had also taken the small fortress of [illegible] in Vosges, which the French had evacuated, leaving their guns and provisions.

News from French Sources

PARIS, Aug 11.—The [illegible] has advices from Metz to 4:30 yesterday. Details of the battle of Frœschweiler are still meagre. Marshal McMahon had his horse killed under him. A brigade of cavalry of reserve and [illegible] of the corps of General Failly arrived on the field of battle at the close of day and covered the retreat.

The last official account says Gramont [illegible] sign the treaty with England for the neutrality of Belgium.

[illegible] Aug 11.—In the Corps Legislatif on [illegible] when the vote was taken on [illegible] the Ministry only six votes were with Ollivier.

A Metz dispatch in the morning papers says the Prince Imperial is still at that place and the Emperor will certainly make a stand there.

The [illegible] here [illegible] among the people is that the reign of the Bonaparte dynasty is over.

The restoration of the House of Orleans is anticipated.

The Count of Paris, Louis Philippe's heir, is now in England.

PARIS, August 10, via London, Aug 11.—American bonds and bills on London are in great demand at Cherbourg.

[illegible] there was great activity in the embarkation of troops for the Baltic. The Austrian Minister [illegible] to deny the report that Italy and Austria are sending troops to serve Napoleon.

La France states the situation thus far as follows: The French hold the Vosges and their passages and the Prussians are massing at their base.

Riot at Marseilles

MARSEILLES, August 9.—For two days this city has been greatly agitated by demonstrations of the people. Great crowds assemble and demand arms. Last evening groups of radicals, seemingly without evil intent, entered the City Hall and endeavored to overturn municipal government. Troops quickly arrived with stringent orders to arrest all rioters. Arrests have continued to-day, about forty persons being now under guard for participating in disturbances. The city is now quiet again.

Loss in Recent Battles—Strength of the Opposing Armies.

NEW YORK, August 11.—The Courrier des Etats Unis has a dispatch estimating M. MacMahon's loss in recent battles at forty thousand. It is estimated that the French forces now in Lorraine number three hundred and forty thousand without counting the Garde Mobile. It is believed here that the French will bring into the next battle 250,000 men and the Prussians 325,000.

The Italian Ministry has escaped censure by only six votes.

LONDON, August 11.—The Bank of England has reduced the rate of discount to 3½ per cent.

It seems there is danger of a rupture between Guatemala and Mexico, on account of outrages committed by parties from the latter on the citizens and territory of the former.

Admiral Farragut Sinking

BOSTON, August 11.—Admiral Farragut is at Portsmouth. He is very low and sinking rapidly.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, August 11.—The delay in the operations at the Mint by fire this morning will only extend to the 15th inst, to which time it is closed. The loss does not exceed $6,000, all in the upper story.

The report that Seward expects to go to Alaska, convoyed by the Ossipee is wholly gratuitous. Mr Seward's rooms on the steamer China, which sails Sept 1st for Japan, having been engaged sometime since.

It is stated that General Geo. P. Ihrie, U. S. A., who recently returned from Alaska, in behalf of himself and partners, protests against the Secretary of the Treasury ignoring their bid of a half million dollars annual rental for the Alaska fur and seal islands, and will invoke the aid of the Supreme Court to enforce what they believe to be their rights in the matter.

The ship Jennie Easton is now loading at Oakland wharf and will be full before Monday next. She is the first vessel to load directly at the railroad wharf. The Sam Kenna will proceed to Vallejo to load her cargo of wheat for England. The Aaron Crown will load at the Oakland wharf.

The California Pacific Railroad Company state that they will positively build the Sonoma county road immediately in any event whether the Sausalito and Petaluma road is constructed by Donohue and his associates or not.

There is a feeling among dealers that gold is likely to rise again, and greenbacks are dealt in cautiously.

John Tyler, who shot Jimmy Dobson on Montgomery street, at the conclusion of the hearing on habeas corpus case to-day was released on $1,500 bail.

The Chamber of Commerce to-day decided that hereafter the 15th and 28th of each month shall be considered collection days, except when they fall on Saturday, in which case the Monday following will be collection day.

Communications were received from Auckland, Wellington and New Zealand Chambers of Commerce, setting forth the claims of the rival ports as the proper point for Webb's steamer line to touch. Both communications were referred to a committee. Also received a communication from the merchants of San Diego setting forth that they had spent $16,000 to open a road from that port to Arizona to direct the trade of the territories from the old route, and required $6,000 more to complete it, but owing to hard times were unable to raise the money. A proposition for the Chambers to undertake to raise it from the merchants of San Francisco was referred to the committee on resolutions.

The Republican State Central Committee expressing sympathy for the Germans in the struggle against Napoleon created a decided sensation, and the effort to have an Irish mass meeting to express sympathy and raise funds for the French will probably succeed.

The Democratic Convention this evening renominated J. M. Nogues for District Attorney and nominated Jas Welch for Street Commissioner [illegible].

An anti-Chinese convention is in progress [illegible] this evening with very small numbers in attendance.

The guard and driver of the stage, anticipating an attack, had arms in readiness and returned the fire of the robbers, wounding two of them fatally. Parties are in pursuit of the balance of the gang, with hopes of capturing them. None of the stage party were injured, although the firing of the robbers from ambush was hot for a few moments.

[illegible] DAY MORNING, AUGUST [illegible] 1870

CITY.

[illegible] have experience [illegible] learn [illegible] green backs [illegible] He did not understand [illegible] why [illegible] a party with [illegible] however that [illegible] man in greenbacks [illegible] somehow getting [illegible] four and [illegible] with coupons [illegible] that he [illegible] Yesterday his trust was [illegible] by a couple of Chinamen who stepped into a saloon [illegible] and gobbled two drinks and then one of them threw down a twenty five cent greenback instead of the expected silver quarter. The bar keeper comprehended the joke and took it while the two sons of the Sun walked off with a beatified expression of countenance [illegible] their intense satisfaction at having got the best of the account.

[illegible] There was no [illegible] the weather was very warm on [illegible] It was about as warm as [illegible] still warmer [illegible] we have many more [illegible] the Fourth of July [illegible] of the [illegible] men not [illegible] days [illegible] soften down [illegible] until there will be nothing but a grease spot left. Monday the weather was cool and the air bracing toward evening [illegible] we are saved by the cool weather.

Judge Upton and several lawyers arrived from Portland to hold court. The town looks quite lively as there are a number of people attending court.

Tuesday the weather was pleasant. The [illegible] arrived at [illegible] and took some freight—salmon and [illegible] and proceeded to sea.

This has been an extraordinary season for hay. Col Spedden has made 110 tons of hay from twenty five acres of land. There is a small meadow adjoining Col Spedden's that has yielded five tons to the acre. [illegible] have got the figures for it.

There are four or five vessels now due. The trade winds have ceased to blow or else they have blowed too much for they are making long passages.

The sloop Belle sailed Wednesday afternoon for Tillamook Bay with thirty tons freight. The bark C. L. T[illegible] is loaded with timber at Shoalwater bay and ready for sea. The ship He[illegible] arrived at Woody Island in tow of the Okanagan drawing 21 feet water.

SHOOTING IN THE STREET.—There was another case of shooting in the street yesterday morning about 4 o'clock. Three or four men came down Alder street and when near the Baptist Church, stopped and talked a moment or two. Finally one was heard by a person close by who had been awakened by the talking, to say "Well let's go down stairs," and all then started down Alder street. In a few moments three or four pistol shots were heard and then the men came running back and passed up Alder out of sight and hearing. They were followed at some distance by a couple of policemen who went up the street a few blocks and stopped. It is not known who the men were or what their purpose in discharging their pistols in the street. It is supposed, however, that they were either some night prowlers of the city who made the disturbance in mere wantonness or they were a party supposed to be bolting to the woods to avoid arrest.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The planking of Main street between Third and Fourth has been laid down. Morrison street is to have the Nicolson pavement between First and Second. The graders have been at work for two or three days. The resolution of the Council adopted Wednesday night contemplates an improvement of the most general and extensive character—no less than the planting of shade trees along the curbs of nearly all the streets in the city from G to Jackson and from Second back to Eleventh. Owners of property as in all other improvements may do the work themselves or failing to do it the city will cause the work to be done, and will collect the cost by assessment from property holders. This is not altogether an essential improvement, but is a quite proper one and one which will result in greatly beautifying the city.

AFFAIRS OF THE LABOR EXCHANGE.—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Labor Exchange Association held last evening the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: W. S. Ladd, President; J. C. Ainsworth, Vice President; J. M. Drake, Secretary; W. S. Ladd, Treasurer. A committee consisting of H. C. Leonard, Donald Macleay and C. H. Lewis was appointed to take the necessary steps toward introducing the subject of a subsidy from the State, to Governor and members of the Legislature, at the next session to be held in September.

NEARLY COMPLETED.—The new engine house for No. 3 is nearly completed. It makes a rather imposing appearance, being the largest and handsomest brick edifice in that part of the city. The brick work of Corbett's building, on First, between Washington and Alder, is also about finished. This building is the only iron front that has a genuine iron front. The design is pronounced by competent judges to be, architecturally, the best and handsomest in the city and not greatly inferior to any on the coast.

MR JAS. H. VINSON'S BENEFIT.—On Tuesday evening next on the occasion of Mr Jas H. Vinson's benefit, a new drama will be offered entitled "Father and [illegible] the German Franco War," and the National [illegible] Hymn "The Fader and [illegible]" will be sung by a [illegible] of volunteers. The performance will conclude [illegible] a musical melange with the farce [illegible] Widow's Victim.

SAILOR [illegible] ten men composing the crew of the [illegible] when she arrived at this port only three now remain with the vessel. [illegible] others having taken a walk. The last case of desertion was that of the carpenter who gave leave [illegible] Sunday and is supposed to have [illegible] the Ecumenical Council as he has not since been seen or heard from.

[illegible] The engineers of the Oregon Central [illegible] engaged in surveying from the head of [illegible] northward to the lower end [illegible] being as we understand [illegible] for this purpose [illegible]

[illegible] a number of severe cases of sickness have occurred in the city [illegible] We regret to learn that [illegible] and Lev Pates are among [illegible] seriously ill.

[illegible] August 11.—Wm McDowell [illegible] J. Mc[illegible] with [illegible] exchanged [illegible] days [illegible] jail for two [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] Ned [illegible] pardoned out of the penitentiary [illegible] convicted of manslaughter [illegible] county [illegible] year.

FRIDAY MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1870.

CITY.

CHINESE APTITUDE.—Every day's experience demonstrates the Chinaman's aptitude to learn and to adapt themselves to the situation. In his own degenerate state, he is supposed to prefer brass coin, with little square holes in the center, and all loose called money. No sooner, however, is he brought in contact with the civilizing and christianizing influence of the Caucasian race, than he goes for silver quarters, hapless and rich with all the scrambling activity of a white man. As a general rule, though, John is kindly take to greenbacks, fractional currency and postage stamps. He don't understand why a bill of a picture should be worth [illegible] with a long tail and to-morrow only a [illegible] with a short tail. John has a [illegible] bewildered idea, however, that paying [illegible] in greenbacks is somehow getting the [illegible] and taking that view of the case, he [illegible]—unapproachable with coupons of fractional currency, for John, if he enjoys anything not taken in with chopsticks, enjoys the best of a trade. Thus he always buys [illegible], if they cost no more than No. 5's, [illegible] would answer his purpose better, and [illegible] thoroughly convinced that he [illegible] the seller. Yesterday, this trait was [illegible] by a couple of Chinamen who stepped [illegible], called for and gobbled two drinks [illegible] of them threw down a twenty-five [illegible] instead of the expected silver [illegible]. The barkeeper comprehended the joke [illegible], while the two sons of the Sun walked [illegible] a satisfied expression of countenance, [illegible] intense satisfaction at having [illegible] the best of the saloonist.

ASTORIA ITEMS.—From our regular correspondent: On Saturday, the 6th, the heated term commenced again; the weather was very warm; on [illegible]. It was about as warm as the Fourth of July—93°. If we have many more [illegible] I think some of the solid men (not [illegible]) will soften down some, until there will [illegible] but a grease spot left. Monday, the [illegible] cool and the air bracing; toward [illegible] woolen coats. I know of [illegible] were saved by the cool weather. [illegible] Upton and several lawyers arrived from [illegible] to hold court. The town looks quite [illegible] there are a number of people attending [illegible] the weather was pleasant. The Ori[illegible] arrived at 9 o'clock and took some freight [illegible] and wool—and proceeded to sea. [illegible] has been an extraordinary season for hay. [illegible] has made 110 tons of hay from [illegible] acres of land. There is a small meadow [illegible] Spedden's that has yielded five [illegible] have got the figures for it. There are four or five vessels now due. The [illegible] have ceased to blow, or else they have [illegible] much, for they are making long passages. [illegible] Bella sailed Wednesday afternoon for [illegible] Bay, with thirty tons freight. The [illegible] Taylor is loaded with lumber at Shoal [illegible] and ready for sea. The ship Hertha [illegible] Sandy Island in tow of the Okanagon, [illegible] fast water.

ON THE STREET.—There was another [illegible] in the street yesterday morning [illegible]. Three or four men came down [illegible] and when near the Baptist Church, [illegible] talked a moment or two. Finally [illegible] by a person close by who had been [illegible] the talking, to say, "Well let's go [illegible]," and all then started down Alder [illegible] few moments, three or four pistol [illegible] heard, and then the men came running [illegible] passed up Alder, out of sight and [illegible]. They were followed, at some distance, [illegible] policemen, who went up the street [illegible] and stopped. It is not known who [illegible] were, nor what their purpose in discharging pistols in the street. It is supposed, [illegible] they were either some night-prowlers [illegible], who made the disturbance in mere [illegible], or they were a party supposed to be [illegible] in the woods to avoid arrest.

IMPROVEMENTS.—The planking of Main [illegible] Third and Fourth has been laid [illegible] street is to have the Nicolson [illegible] First and Second. The grading [illegible] work for two or three days. [illegible] of the Council, adopted Wednesday [illegible] an improvement of the [illegible] and extensive character—no less [illegible] of shade trees along the curbs [illegible] streets in the city from G to [illegible] from Second back to Eleventh. [illegible] as in all other improvements [illegible] themselves, or failing to do it, [illegible] cause the work to be done, and will [illegible] cost by assessment from property holders. This is not altogether an essential improvement, but it is quite proper one, and one which [illegible] greatly beautifying the city.

MEETING OF THE LABOR EXCHANGE.—At a meeting of the Trustees of the Labor Exchange Association, held last evening, the following officers [illegible] elected for the coming year: W. S. Ladd, [illegible]; J. C. Ainsworth, Vice President; J. [illegible], Secretary; W. S. Ladd, Treasurer. [illegible] committee consisting of H. C. Leonard, [illegible] and C. H. Lewis was appointed [illegible] necessary steps toward introducing [illegible] a subsidy from the State, to Governor [illegible] of the Legislature, at the next [illegible] held in September.

NEARLY COMPLETED.—The new engine house [illegible] is nearly completed. It makes a [illegible] appearance, being the largest and [illegible] brick edifice in that part of the city. [illegible] Corbett's building, on First, [illegible] Washington and Alder, is also about [illegible]. This building is the only iron front [illegible] iron front. The design is [illegible] competent judges to be, architecturally [illegible] and handsomest in the city, and [illegible] inferior to any on the coast.

MR. J. H. VINSON'S BENEFIT.—On Tuesday [illegible], on the occasion of Mr. Jas. H. Vinson's [illegible], a new drama will be offered, entitled "[illegible], or the German Franco War," and [illegible] German Hymn, "The Faderland," [illegible] sung by a choir of volunteers. The performance will conclude, after a musical melange, with the farce of "Widow's Victim."

[illegible] DESERTERS.—Of ten men, composing the crew of the Alpha, when she arrived at this port, only three now remain with the vessel, the [illegible] having taken a walk. The last case of desertion was that of the carpenter, who got leave to attend church, last Sunday, and is supposed to have gone to the Ecumenical Council [illegible] has not since been seen or heard from.

RAILROAD SURVEY.—The engineers of the Oregon Central Railroad are engaged in surveying [illegible] the head of Fourth street northward to the [illegible] of the city, the object being, as we understand, to find an easy grade. For this purpose a detour is made from Fourth to Ninth. Of [illegible] this survey, like all the others, is, at present, only experimental.

[illegible] During the week a number of severe cases of [illegible] have occurred in the city—[illegible] from climate influences or too much eating of fruit not thoroughly ripe. We regret to learn that Messrs. J. H. Mitchell and Levi Estes are among the number reported as seriously ill.

POLICE COURT.—Thursday, August 11.—Wm. [illegible], disorderly conduct, fined $5 and costs. [illegible], drunk, and going to bed on the sidewalk, fined for costs and discharged. Leon [illegible], disorderly conduct, sent to jail for two days in default of a fine of $5, and costs.

A FRESH START.—The high winds of yesterday seems to have given the fires in the woods a fresh start. Toward evening dense black smoke [illegible] from two or three localities on the east [illegible] the river. One of those columns of smoke [illegible] a fire in a new place.

CADET APPOINTED.—We learn that Heriah [illegible], Jr., son of the veteran H. B. [illegible], has been appointed for a cadetship at the Annapolis Military School, by J. S. Smith, M. C.

FOR SITKA.—The propeller Geo. S. Wright, F. [illegible], Commander, will sail for San Juan, Ft. [illegible], Ft. Wrangle and Sitka, on Saturday August 13, at 6 o'clock P. M.

A NEW TUGBOAT.—A stern-wheel scow tugboat is being built at the O. S. N. Co.'s ship yard, below this city, for use on the river between this and Astoria.

PARDONED.—On Tuesday, Gov. Woods pardon out of the penitentiary, Joseph Simpson, convicted of manslaughter, in Umatilla county last [illegible]

PACIFIC UNIVERSITY.—The President of this institution sends us a circular which specifically sets forth the advantages of the school for young ladies. At the beginning of the winter term, Nov. 1st, the President will be able to furnish in his own house rooms for thirty boarders at a cost of only $45 for the term of thirteen weeks, with washing, lights and fuel added, at cost. Until a suitable incumbent of the post can be secured, the President will take a personal oversight of the establishment, and the young ladies will be members of his family. He will in a short time have an office fitted up and will then be found on hand and ready for all business which may come in his way.

THE TERRITORIES.

The Deseret News is printed on paper and with type made in Salt Lake City.

Several large and substantial brick buildings are in course of erection at Boise City.

J. E. Curtis is acting Governor of Idaho, pending the arrival of the newly appointed Governor Marston of New Hampshire.

In Frenchtown, Montana, where the adult population is only forty-eight, there were twenty-seven fights on the Fourth of July.

At the late election in Utah 14,063 votes were polled. Of these 12,797 were for Hooper, the Mormon candidate. Several hundred women voted.

The Idaho City World urges the construction of a bed-rock flume in Moore's creek at that place. The whole extent of mining claims on the creek could be worked, and the ground is known to be rich.

On the 4th of August a scientific expedition from Yale College, with Professor Marsh, left Cheyenne to explore the geology of the country between the forks of the Platte. An escort from the Fifth Cavalry, under Captain Montgomery, goes with the party.

The Deseret News, the official organ of the Mormons, denies that Dr. Newmann was challenged to come there and discuss polygamy, but suggests that should he come and desire to occupy the tabernacle, no objection would be raised, providing he will pledge himself to accord the privilege of his church at Washington to any respectable Mormon elder who may with it.

CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA.

The French residents of Virginia City (Nev.) have opened a subscription for the families of French soldiers.

A party of surveyors of the California and Oregon Railroad Company have been examining the country in the vicinity of Lost and Sprague rivers, for a route through that section. This is another indication that the Company has abandoned the design of building that road up to the Oregon line below Jacksonville.

A woman was burned recently at a fire at Nevada, Cal. It is not well known whether she was killed by the flames or previously murdered. Some say that she was insane; and others declare that she was addicted to the use of opium, and that in a stupefied condition she allowed a candle to burn down and catch. Others again declare that incendiaries did the work of setting the fire.

Dr. J. M. Frey is exhibiting in California a relic of the ancient Aztecs, which was dug up by a prospector, one hundred miles southwest of Prescott. It resembled a piece of coin somewhat, or a medal, and is composed of silver, lead and antimony, with a hole through the top, so that it might be hung about the neck. A human figure is represented on one side, and also a cross, the latter bearing somewhat the appearance of a miner's pick. It was evidently cast in sand.

The Solano (Cal.) Republican of August 4th relates this sad affair: On Saturday last, while a number of children were playing on a haystack in Vacca valley, and amusing themselves by sliding down the side of the stack, one of them, a step daughter of Joshua Donaldson, twelve or thirteen years of age, slid directly upon a pitchfork leaning against the stack, the handle of which entered the abdomen and caused injuries from which recovery is thought to be impossible, though the child was still alive at last accounts.

The Newark (N. J.) Courier says: "Ex Gov. Parker's friends are quietly laying pipe for the election of that gentleman to the United States Senate, in case the Democrats succeed in carrying the Legislature. In such an event, however, Gov. Randolph unquestionably has the inside track. It is quite probable that Gov. Parker will again be a candidate for the Presidency in 1872."

AN ARTICLE OF TRUE MERIT.—"BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" are the most popular article in this country or Europe for Throat Diseases and Coughs, and this popularity is based upon real merit, which cannot be said of many other preparations in the market which are really but weak imitations of the genuine Troches.

OUR CITIZENS certainly deserve credit, for the energy they display to make the Oregon Immigration and Labor Exchange a success and benefit to the State, as well as the immigrant coming to our State. Every citizen should give all the aid in their power to help the large number of strangers coming to our State, and not forget to inform them that Kohn & Fisher, No. 91 Front street, have the largest stock of clothing in Oregon, other goods are of superior quality and sold at extreme low prices.

$1,000 REWARD is offered by the proprietor of Dr. Pierce's Alt. Ext. or Golden Medical Discovery for a medicine that will equal it in the cure of all diseases for which it is recommended. For Bronchitis, severe Coughs, and the early stages of Consumption, it has astonished the medical faculty by its wonderful cures, and hundreds of the best physicians pronounce it the greatest medical discovery of the age. While it cures the severest coughs it strengthens the system and purifies the blood. As a cure for Pimples on the face, Eruptions, Blotches, Scrofulous diseases, and "Liver Complaint" or Biliousness, it has never been equaled. Sold by druggists. The Genuine has Dr. Pierce's private Government Revenue Stamp on the outside wrapper.

FOREIGN NOTES.

Before the late battles the Prussian Generals offered a sum equal to $500 for the capture of the French mitrailleur. Several were "brought into camp."

The Journal officiel says that France makes war not against Germany but Prussia, to preserve Danish neutrality, maintain Austria's great position among the German people, to protect the rights of the smaller States, and establish a durable peace in Europe. This is the aim of the Emperor, and not a war of aggrandizement.

France lost 60,000 men during the Crimean struggle. The Italian campaigns carried off 60,000 more of Napoleon's bravest, while 65,000 Frenchmen were sacrificed in the Chinese and Mexican wars. The opening war is assuming such mammoth proportions that Napoleon's losses now promise to exceed all these figures aggregated.

M. Werther (the Prussian Ambassador) told the Emperor Napoleon in November, 1869, and again in April, 1870, that King William had refused his consent to the cadetship of Prince Leopold. But recently, overcome by his persistent entreaties, the King said: "Well, go; if you want to. Go where your destiny calls you, and get yourself shot like Maximilian!"

The King of Wurtemburg is quoted as saying that Germany will be ruined by the war for twenty years, and emigration to America and the West will be enormous. It is thought Napoleon erred in not pushing promptly into Bavaria. He would thereby have neutralized the action of all Southern Germany. Such a movement is impossible now, because it would expose Paris.

The Grand Duke Alexis, son of the Russian Emperor, is to visit the United States early next year. Mr. A. T. Stewart has tendered to the Emperor, for his son's use while in New York, his new marble palace on the corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth street. The young Grand Duke is twenty-two years old, strikingly handsome, notably brave, and belongs to the navy. He will be the first of Russian royalty to put foot on republican soil.

The first needle-gun of Prussia fired eight shots in a minute. The French chassepot beat this, firing fifteen shots per minute. The needle-gun was then improved so that it discharged twelve shots per minute, the soldier carrying 100 charges. The latest improvement secures twenty-five shots per minute, and allows the soldier to carry 600 charges. Accounts from Saarbruck give the chassepot the advantage on long range, but the Prussian gun in precision. The latter is good at 500 yards; the French piece at 1,200.

Bavaria can furnish an army of 50,000 men, backed by a reserve of 30,000. Wurtemburg has 1,800,000 people, and if pushed to the uttermost can send 35,000 soldiers into the field. Baden numbers a million inhabitants, and its army on a war footing may be set down at 20,000. Hesse has about the same population, but will not be able to muster more than half as many muskets. Lichtenstein has less than a million people, and no army at all. Prussia, then, may safely rely upon 125,000 troops from this quarter; a most valuable reinforcement in a sharp emergency.

Attention, Emmet Guard!—There will be a special meeting of the Company this evening. Every member is requested to be present.
By order of the Captain.

Build up the System.

Strength evaporates fast at this season. This is especially the case with all who live by the sweat of their brow. From every pore of the sieve like skin a moisture exudes which contains the elements of vitality. Thereby the blood is impoverished, the nerves relaxed, the muscles weakened, the digestion impaired, the bowels disturbed and the animal spirits depressed. The constant drain that produces these effects cannot be arrested, because it is due to the heat of the atmosphere, but the loss of the life-sustaining elements can be supplied by extra invigoration. Now, therefore, is the time to resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most powerful and healthful of all vegetable tonics. Long experience has proved that nothing else will effectually sustain and regulate the system, when wasting down under the double pressure of excessive heat, and the constant physical or mental labor. All persons who have been tempted to try the local "tonics" so-called, which have been started by sordid speculators, in almost every town and village, with a view of "turning a penny" by the credulity of the unwary, know this to their cost. It is a wise maxim that says "hold fast to that which is good." Of the forty millions of people in the United States, probably one-fifth have tested the restorative properties of Hostetter's Bitters and know it to be a specific for dyspepsia, biliousness, nervous weakness, general debility, constipation, fever and ague and want of appetite, that any of these should be persuaded to experiment with the worthless nostrums, recommended by unscrupulous and ignorant empirics seems almost incredible.

France on the Sea

THE [illegible] WAR-SHIP [illegible] LATE THE [illegible]

The most important vessel of war that will be [illegible] by France [illegible] by the Emperor Napoleon in June 1867 and formerly known as [illegible] in the marine of France as the Rochambeau [illegible] Webb [illegible] under a contract with the Navy Department and it was designed [illegible] for our navy. At the close of the war when a general reduction [illegible] when Congress [illegible] to compensate Mr Webb for the [illegible] outlays exceeding the contract price her constructor secured the passage of an act by which the Dunderberg was placed in the hands of Mr Webb. Immediately propositions poured in from several South American Powers and from France and Prussia but France offered the largest sum and she was purchased by the personal direction of the Emperor who had heard of her prowess and her wonderful offensive and defensive [illegible]. It is said that Mr Webb received [illegible] for the vessel as she stood.

The Dunderberg now Rochambeau was launched in the summer of 1864 after she had been in process of construction for three years. She is an immense iron plated ram displacing 7,000 tons of water. She is built of the best timber [illegible] some mendacious writers have had the audacity to make contrary assertions. She is 378 feet long has 73 feet breadth of beam amidships, and is 30 feet in the hold. She has a larger available deck surface than any war vessel ever constructed. Her lines are original with Mr Webb and the principle upon which she is built are bold and progressive but have been successful and brilliantly triumphant. She has no dead rise that is, she is flat-bottomed—and her bilges rise almost perpendicularly from the bottom. Forward she is sharp and has an invulnerable iron ram 25 feet long, sharp pointed and so curved on the upper surface as to take the bilge of a ship's side. It is this ram that is one of the destructive features of the Rochambeau. In the naval battle of Lissa the victory was won with this weapon and that and other engagements have unmistakably show that in the future running the enemy down is more important than repeated broadsides.

It was computed by Admiral Goldsborough that the shock sustained by impact with the Rochambeau would be equal to the impression made by a cannon ball weighing 1,000 tons and moving at the velocity of 1,000 feet a second, provided the Rochambeau were steaming 10 knots an hour.

In the Rochambeau had this great feature forward, she had another aft equally important, but which the French have destroyed—her overhang. This overhang was placed there by her builders to protect her screw and rudder from terrific seas and the assaults of an antagonist. In her passage to Europe the Rochambeau demonstrated the value of this appendage and it is not clear that the French authorities have not been guilty of a piece of folly in making the alterations.

Upon the spar-deck is a casement 200 feet long, 8½ feet high and 60 wide protected on the top by iron deck plating, on the sides by forged iron plating 9 inches thick inclined to the deck at an angle of 60 degrees and backed by three feet of solid wood. This inclination of the casement sides renders it absolutely impossible for any projectile to make an indentation. A ball would glance and go tumbling and hissing through the air.

Casemated vessels it is needless to say are superior to monitors and all the worthless inventions of Ericsson, Coles and others, and this fact was demonstrated in the late war.

The Rochambeau carries four 15-inch guns, purchased in this country two of which were placed on board by Mr Webb. She completed her battery with fourteen 15-inch shell guns of the Dahlgren pattern. Her battery weighs 300 tons and her plating 1,100 tons, making a heavy superimposed burden of 1,400 tons. Her screw has a diameter of 20 feet, her shaft one of 20 inches. Her engines are two of 5,000 horse-power each and she can carry 1,600 tons of coal, using but 70 a day. Her fire room engine room quarter, and cabin are superb and were fitted up at great expense.—N Y Herald

GALLANT STRUGGLE FOR LIFE.—The ship H B Wright, for Searsport, Maine recently wrecked on the coast of Maine, afforded an instance of a gallant struggle for life. We learn from the Portland Argus that at the time she struck, all hands, except the Captain, the steward and his wife, got hastily into the boats and pushed off, and it was only at the earnest entreaty of the Captain that one of the boats returned and took him off, but refused to [illegible] the other two. The steward was a very worthy colored man, named Benjamin Stewart, and he, with his wife, were left to perish with the ship, which was fast going to pieces. Stewart begged piteously for them to save his wife, telling them if they would only take her on board they could leave him to his chances. It was of no avail, the boats pulled away out of sight leaving Stewart and his wife to their fate. But he was not dismayed. He noticed a large rock under her counter and if the ship held together perhaps at low water they might reach the rock and climb up the cliff to the land. He accordingly placed his wife forward and put a life-preserver upon her but her fright was so great she clinging to him and running after him, endangered her life at every moment that he lashed her forward. He then got a piece of plank out of the after hawse pipe to the rock and made fast the spanker guy to the end of the plank. He put a foot-rope on the plank and rigged the steps down to it. All this was done with the ship beating and dashing itself to pieces the waves frequently making a clean breach over her. Stewart then put a running bowline around his wife's waist, and bade her save herself. She finally made the attempt and reached the rock, but just as she did so a great wave buried her ten feet beneath it and she was washed back under the ship. Stewart succeeded in dragging her on board again [illegible] condition, by the bowline attached to her body. With entreaty and persuasion he induced her to make a second attempt. This was successful. She reached the rock and before the wave came, scrambled up the precipice beyond its reach. Stewart then reached the shore himself by the plank and rock.

They found themselves in a desolate region in a sorry plight—drenched shoeless and but half clothed. They set out to find a habitation, but became lost in the woods. They endeavored to find the ship again but could not. While wandering about in the woods they were found by William K. Corbett and taken to his house and kindly cared for.

EULOGY OF PARADOL UPON LINCOLN.—To show the claim of Paradol upon the admiration of Americans we print a part of his eulogy in the Journal des Debats on the death of Lincoln.

Nothing could shake him. He supported both patiently and [illegible] the ill will of Europe; he saw without alarm the armies of the Republic losing courage or dispersing; he saw without fear and danger his capital filled with traitors, he carried on recruiting in the middle of New York [illegible]. He repelled all idea of a dictatorship and submitted himself to the period fixed by law to the popular election and taking his burden willingly upon him set out upon his road and took no account of obstacles [illegible] of duty [illegible] extraordinary advantage in it that the [illegible] of life cannot affect it.

He could die [illegible] with some degree of pride aloft and triumphant that Union flag which had been twice intrusted to him and which he had preserved through so many perils. It is at the moment that he [illegible] the unforseen blood resounds [illegible] in the hearts of all honest men in the Old and the New World. But his work was done and the spectacle of a rescued republic was what he could look upon with consolation when his eyes were closing in death. Moreover he has not lived alone for this country since he leaves to every one in the world to whom liberty and justice are dear, a great remembrance and a pure example.

A distinguished Professor of Harvard College was [illegible] by a brother clergyman how long it took him to write a sermon. He said "Sometimes a week, sometimes longer." "What," [illegible] to write a sermon, I write one in a day and think nothing of it." "Yes," replied the Doctor, "But I make something."

A gentleman asked a clergyman for the use of his pulpit for a young divine a relation of his. "I really don't know," said the clergyman, "how to refuse him but if the man can preach better than I, [illegible] my congregation would be dissatisfied with me afterward and if he should preach worse I don't think he is fit to preach at all."

The joke was a perfect success and the laughter which it excited smothered their resolution.

The editor of the Elmira Advertiser pretends to edit an agricultural department of his paper, yet he don't know anything about agriculture. He had a lot of cabbage plants and every time it rained he would hear some one say it was good weather to transplant cabbage plants, so he would rush right home and transplant them. After doing so eleven times the plants died when he came out in his paper and said there was no use trying to raise marrowfat cabbages anywhere near Elmira.

Are there Two Sides to the European Question

[From the New York Times]

Most people seem to have made up their minds that there are not. They see only one side. They say that Napoleon is a despot. We certainly think that he is not the model of a constitutional ruler but what act of despotism has he ever committed which King William has not at least equalled if not exceeded in Prussia? Napoleon has suspended the liberty of the Press and of free [illegible]. So has King William. Napoleon has governed without Ministers. King William has done the same [illegible] has treated his Ministers worse than his dogs. Napoleon has disturbed the peace of Europe. Bismarck and King William together have disturbed it at least quite as often.

But then it is said Bismarck is working for a good end and Napoleon for a bad one. Well that is passable enough as a piece of dogmatism but how will it bear investigation? What has become of popular liberties under the rule of Prussia? Is there anything like fair play in the way in which Denmark, Hanover, or Schleswig Holstein have been treated? It is said, "Oh, but it is for the good of these small States to be swallowed up." The eel might as well be told that it is good for it to be skinned—but if we could become acquainted with the eel's opinion upon the subject, we should probably find that it did not appreciate the beauty of the transaction. For the sake of "German Unity" everything must be sacrificed. The idea naturally dazzles the mind of every German—although it is only very lately that the people have brought themselves to approve of it. At first they considered the ambition of Bismarck as almost criminal. Now he has shown them that he can make their country the greatest in Europe if they will only follow his advice. Germany like Aaron's rod will swallow up all the rest. Some may say, it is good that it should be so. But France thinks differently—and we turn upon France and tell her that she is daring the wrath of Heaven by presuming to have an opinion upon the subject. When one nation attempts to decide off hand on a question in dispute between foreigners she generally makes a mess of it. So it was with England in our war. So, perhaps it will be with other nations in the present war.

Now who caused the war? France every body shouts. Well, where is your proof of it? A theory is constructed that Prim saw Napoleon and arranged the Hohenzollern difficulty, so that it might afford a pretext for declaring war against Prussia. Very pretty—but is Napoleon a fool? He may be anything else people choose to call him—but he is not an imbecile. And the precious plot attributed to him could only be the fruit of sheer dotage. For it was quite certain that Europe would instantly see through the trick and that almost every great Power would soon be arrayed against France. If France was determined to make war, she need not have gone so far out of her way for a pretext. She could have taken up the disregarded treaty of Prague and found in that something to answer her purpose.

Then take the story on the other side—namely that Bismarck intrigued with Prim in order to compel France to fight knowing that by that means he could bring over the South German Confederation to his side and at once suppress all jealousies of Prussia. Who is to decide between these stories, unless indeed it be the Pope? On the face of matters the one tale is no more improbable than the other. France after all has not so much to gain by a war as Prussia. Bismarck accomplishes "German Unity" by it whether he wins or loses while France can only gain if she wins. A German correspondent promises to put us right on the whole question. He says

"I merely wish to state that Prussia since Sadowa, has continually been working for a German unity, which could only be achieved by a war against that despot whose main object has always been to impede, if he possibly could the attainment of the desired aim."

Then what becomes of the statement that France and France alone is responsible for the war? Our correspondent is doubtless right. German unity could not have been accomplished at least so soon without a war with France. [illegible] but is it just to saddle Napoleon with the whole responsibility of it? [illegible] moral support to the German [illegible] It is all very well to renounce Napoleon and all his works but surely something is [illegible] our own credit as the [illegible] of passing events.

SUICIDE OF A QUEEN.—The New York [illegible] July 25th has the following

Sarah Cooper the wife of the king of the remnant of the famous and once powerful tribe of [illegible] Indians hung herself [illegible] morning with an old shawl to the rafters of [illegible] house in which she was living at [illegible] Westchester county. She was the daughter of Joseph Merritt, of Miles Square near White Plains and was married about a year ago to Osceola Cooper the youthful king of all that is left of the once great tribe. The [illegible] was ordered on Saturday by her [illegible] wash [illegible] linen duster belonging to a young [illegible] same house, at which she became highly [illegible], and flew into a very violent passion. She vowed that she was a lady [illegible] would not condescend to be any [illegible] washerwoman even [illegible] herself [illegible] She then quit the house and wandered into the wood whither no one knows. At nightfall she made her appearance in the dining room, but spoke to no one as she was evidently very much incensed at the insult which she thought her husband had offered her. Endeavoring to reconcile her Osceola approached her and desired her to eat her supper whereupon her fiery temper again took possession of her. It was the King's turn now to be one angry and he told his Queen in very plain terms that she was [illegible] morning was [illegible] breakfast [illegible] Osceola [illegible] Dr Lowell [illegible] suspended from [illegible] which being [illegible] the body [illegible] the dead Queen could not have suffered strangulation.
